

Minute 2 Win It

by i Entertainment

High impact programs are just how they sound... high impact. That means there is a good chance of running. There is a good chance of physical exertion. There is a good chance of sweating. There is good chance you'll hit your target heart rate. i Entertainment's high impact programs shouldn't be done in a suit, tie, or power shoes. Some team building programs are meant to be done out of a chair and getting out of your chair is the first part of that conversation. And that conversation can be customizable, so be sure to ask an i Entertainment Event Specialist how we can build our programs to fit your groups needs.

The popular television game show is one of our most requested team building programs. Instead of an audience watching one person play a game, we've redesigned this program so that multiple teams send up a representative and those representatives compete in individual head-to-head games. We provide a series of games with multiple set-ups of each game. Teams send representatives to play the game with each winning team receiving points. The team with the most points at the end of the program will be our winning team. This is a highly competitive program that is incredibly fast paced.

This is a fast paced program experience with participants moving quickly in a truly fun rapid fire team building program. Your guests will leave thanking you for a memorable experience. Then you can thank us for making it so simple and turn key.
